Secretary of State of the Ministry of Foreign Affairs.

Dear readers and students,

I would like to address my warmest greetings to those who will have the opportunity to read the Eduitalia guide - study in Italy. You have already expressed an interest to know more about Italy which I encourage you to pursue.

The promotion of the Italian culture and language abroad have always been among the primary goals of the Italian Ministry for Foreign Affairs, through its diplomatic network and in coordination with many associations and public bodies.

Encouraging the knowledge of the Italian culture abroad is an important step to build mutual understanding for a lasting collaboration. The Italian Ministry for Affairs supports the important activities carried out by Eduitalia, which has a critical role to support the realization of many foreign students' dream to study in Italy. Eduitalia works in close collaboration with the diplomatic service in order to facilitate student visa and administrative support to foreign students.

The Study in Italy Eduitalia guide is a flexible instrument, allowing students to find the right course matching everyone learning demands, in the places and periods they prefer. The guide proposes a selection of the academic courses of special schools or universities.

Thanks to this real-life experience in Italy, I wish that Eduitalia students could become special friends and ambassadors of the Italian culture into the world, and propose a similar cultural experience to friends and relatives.

I welcome all of you with all my best wishes for the cultural experience you are going to have in Italy. It is going to be a rewarding one, thanks to the active support by Eduitalia.

Mario Giro

The Ambassador

*Embassy of Italy
Washington*

I am very happy once again to have the possibility to write some introductory remarks for the 2014 edition of Eduitalia's Guide "Study in Italy". It is truly most encouraging that Eduitalia's activities to bring US students to Italy continue, and so productively, thus contributing to making Italy their second destination in the world.

This speaks volumes about the attraction that Italian culture and language exert on Americans, regardless of their origin. This was evident also in the great success of "2013 - Year of Italian Culture in the United States". Its rich program - which I am happy to say will continue in the future - offers a fascinating voyage aimed at discovering Italy. The very best of what our Country has to offer in terms of our great cultural heritage and tradition, but also our capacity for innovation and research: science, art, film, music, theater, photography, food, design, the beauty of our landscapes, literature... and, of course, the Italian language.

The reinstatement of Italian in the AP Program - strongly promoted by the Government of Italy and supported by major Italian-American Organizations and various important Italian companies - has been pivotal in promoting Italian language in the United States. Those taking AP Italian can earn credits valid at the university level while still in high school. The prerequisites are there: over the course of the last ten years, America's desire to learn Italian has grown continuously - our language is trendy and increasingly seen as an expression of culture, art and style.

The synergy launched with Eduitalia and a number of scholarships offered by this institution to students who register for the AP Italian exam are a wonderful added incentive. In fact, these students can win and, subsequently, experience Italy as a destination during their program of studies. And, as we all know, the best way to improve one's language skills is to practice them on site - in the Country where the language is spoken. During the ceremony that was held last September at the Embassy to award these scholarships, the winners spoke in glowing terms of their experiences over the summer, which were made possible by Eduitalia. What better way to promote Italian language and culture than the words of the very students!

In 2014 we want to repeat this success, since we can again count on Eduitalia's support. I would therefore like to thank Eduitalia and to encourage those who yearn to "experience Italy" to do so, and to yield to its call, to the desire to admire its beauty, appreciate the sweetness of our language and Made in Italy's creativity - in short, to immerse oneself in our culture, language and lifestyle. Because, after all, Italy is not only a country - it's a way of life.

I wish happy and productive studies in Italy to all - buono studio!

Claudio Bisogniero

PIEMONTE

Piemonte is in the north-west of Italy. As the name says, Piemonte (= foothills) is a land of mountains: in fact, it is surrounded on its three sides by the Alps, which enclose in this region the highest peaks and the largest glaciers in Italy.

The spectacular mountains of the region create incredibly beautiful landscapes; there are many ski resorts as well, like Via Lattea and Sestriere, which welcome winter sports enthusiasts with their modern facilities.

Lake Maggiore is the most sought-after tourist resort, with Stresa and the Borromean Islands, charming landscapes with ancient villas surrounded by beautiful lawns. Yet, nature is only one of the many attractions in Piemonte.

This region has many other facets: from Turin – the Italian capital of cars – with its history and its remarkable artistic heritage, to other several old towns.

Then charming medieval castles, including the stately castle of Ivrea, and precious architectures, like the famous Residences of the Royal House of Savoy and the Sacred Mountains.

PASSEPARTOUT

Lingua Italiana

Passepartout school of Italian Language for foreigners was established in 1996.

In 2005 Passepartout was officially recognized by the Ministry of Public Education. Since 1996 we have focused on our students' goals: communicating in Italian language in everyday life, at work, at the University, coming back home with a solid Italian language background.

In order to reach our goals, that is our students' goals, we had to overcome the obstacles of teaching just in one way. Therefore we developed a method that join a communicative approach with a strong attention to the structures of the language.

During the classes, thanks to the small size of groups, all students can understand and speak Italian, using Italian language to communicate from the very first class. Grammatical structures are presented in order of complexity. Students improve by using new structures and vocabulary in the course as well during breaks and in the Italian contest.

Milan's mix of design and architecture sets it apart from other cities. Known as the fashion capital, it boasts as the home of many premier fashion designers. It also offers many kinds of entertainment, from restaurants and bars offering traditional Milanese "aperitivi" to theatres such as the world renowned Opera House, "La Scala".

The cities of the Veneto region are jewels that preserve precious historical and artistic relics. The region is a rich land, embellished with the enduring stamp of the Serenissima Republic.

From the mountains to the sea, Veneto boasts six protected nature areas. Less known than the more popular tourist destinations, these areas continue to preserve natural wildlife in its original and uncontaminated state.

Among the most beautiful mountains in the world, the Dolomites offer over 400 kilometers of ski runs in the winter, a veritable paradise for skiers, and an exciting location for a winter holiday!

Ancient defense towers stretch out towards this region's signature blue sky, small churches are surrounded by clusters of pine trees and oak or chestnut woods, and sanctuaries are nestled upon mountain peaks. Miles of inland and sea paths full of stupendous panoramic views abound here, and traditional Ligurian cooking can be enjoyed at its many trattorie.

ACCADEMIA EUROPEA DI FIRENZE

The Accademia Europea di Firenze is an Italian language, music, arts and culture school in the heart of the city of Florence, Italy.

After years of experience, our staff has identified the difficulties related to learning Italian as a second language and studying in a foreign country. This contributed to the creation of a structure in which the student's needs are of fundamental importance, both in and outside of the classroom. Such experience was also used by our academic director, Edy Frollano, to publish the books that are used in the school, such as "L'italiano all'opera" and "L'italiano- lingua e comunicazione"

We emphasize the importance of putting the language to immediate use and within the student's interests, so that the effort translates into success. The Music and Art Departments, in fact, complement the Language Department, not only by offering courses, but also by organizing events to stimulate the students: concerts, art exhibits, folklore, etc.

Courses:

- Italian language.
- Music- vocal technique, diction, opera libretti, instruments, history of Italian music, etc.
- We are attracting music conservatories and universities that know the importance of the Italian language and diction, as well as the history and libretto of Italian operas, for those who wish to follow a career in this field because the majority of the operas are in Italian.
- June and November: mock auditions with the Director of the Met Opera National Council Auditions in NY (MONC), Gayletha Nichols.
- Arts: oil painting, sculpture, interior design, photography, etc.
- Culture: history of art, literature, Italian cinema, Italian theater, cooking, wine appreciation, etc.

MARCHE

Travellers who want the best of central Italy should head for Le Marche, the third region alongside Tuscany and Umbria which makes up the area.

Located on the eastern side of central Italy, between the Adriatic Sea and the tall Apennine mountains, much of the region remains unspoiled by the ravages of mass tourism.

The Adriatic coast is known as a Mecca for “sun and sand” which has attracted holiday-goers for decades, but few venture far from the beaches. Inland, perhaps more so than anywhere else in central Italy, one can find places where time really has stood still. Compared to the more bustling tourist centers of central Italy, culture comes in more easily digestible portions here, without sacrificing quality.

CENTRO STUDI ITALIANI

Founded in 1986, Centro Studi Italiani is the first school for foreigners in the Marche Region. Ever since its foundation, the school has provided Italian language and culture classes to more than 12,000 students from 120 countries all over the world.

Centro Studi Italiani offers all levels of Italian; the courses are flexible, varied, rich and somewhat unique. Classes are intentionally small to allow students to best relate to each other while enjoying personalized attention.

Centro Studi Italiani has gained an international reputation with its preparatory language courses for students wishing to access higher education in Italy.

The school is an official examination center for the CELI, PLIDA and AIL certifications. Each week the school organizes cultural excursions to exquisite destinations around Italy.

Housing is available in comfortable fully furnished apartments or with host families.

Courses:

- Italian language
- Study holidays for juniors and adults

UMBRIA

Travelling throughout Umbria, the green heart of Italy, is a journey full of surprises. The region's wealth of natural and artistic wonders seems almost inexhaustible.

One is continuously suspended between signs of a well-preserved past and a hint of a future that is entirely new, which has reawakened Umbria from a torpor that lasted for centuries since the Renaissance, bringing to light a region that is alive and exquisitely beautiful.

The Umbria of today has reinvented itself. The region has much to offer visitors, from sport, culture, and museums to epicurean delights, Thermal, and musical events. Umbria has a true vocation for beauty

LdM is one of Italy's most distinctive and established international institutions, founded in 1973. With 40 years of growth and experience, and premises in Tuscania, Florence and Rome, today LdM hosts over 2,800 students a year from all over the world, providing them the opportunity to study abroad in multiple locations and truly experience the cultural richness of both historical and contemporary Italy.

At LdM Tuscania, the curriculum has been designed to promote the historical, artistic and cultural qualities that make this part of Italy unique. Tuscania, in fact, is a hilltop town located on the border of the Tuscany and Lazio regions of central Italy, south of Florence and not far from Rome, in the breathtaking countryside of the southern Maremma. LdM Tuscania offers a broad spectrum of different programs for international students in Arts&Sciences, Creative Arts, and Italian Language and Culture. From Academic Semester and Academic Year Programs, the Three-Cities Program, to short-term options, such as Summer courses. LdM Tuscania also offers a Culinary Immersion Special Program and an Archaeology Field School, courses about cinema, music and theatre, or literature and writing among others. All courses are taught in English, with the exception of the Italian Language classes.

Because of the size of the town, its geographic location, and its pace, Tuscania is the perfect setting for friendly and frequent interaction with local Italians. The campus is situated in an elegantly modern structure in the old town center and incorporated into the medieval stone walls. Reading rooms, classrooms, exhibition space, studios, a library, and a computer room fill the renovated, Wi-Fi equipped interior. The facilities also include a courtyard and a state-of-the-art culinary classroom for courses in Mediterranean cuisine.

SICILIA

It is not easy to understand Sicily. Like a beautiful woman, Sicily requires a certain type of approach and cannot easily be won over. All one can do is to allow himself to be seduced, as were the first Mycenaeans when they passed through this way to buy obsidian and pumice stone in the Aeolian Islands when nothing else was known for cutting and polishing.

The Phoenicians also journeyed along these coasts, establishing trading stations and commerce with every corner of the Mediterranean. These were people who lived in peace, trading with Siculs, Sicans, and Elymians.

Sicily welcomes everyone, and has always done so. Everyone becomes Sicilian—you don't have to be born here to do so. Hermocrates of Syracuse made this point back in 424 BC when he said, "We are neither Ionians nor Dorians, we are Sicilians."

We use the hand gestures of the ancient Phoenician merchants; We are as crafty as the Greeks, as captious as the Byzantines, as blasé as the knights of Andalusia, and we still show great respect for the dead and the necropolises of all those who died on the island.

BABILONIA

The Center for Italian Studies "BABILONIA" in Taormina, Sicily, passionately dedicates itself to the study of the Italian language and culture.

BABILONIA is not just a language school but a truly Cultural Center opened to both our International Students and the local community.

The cultural events that take place at BABILONIA represent an unique opportunity for our International students to feel part of the Italian community, to experience cultural exchanges with different Italy's culture realities, to meet literature authors during our book presentations, to enjoy art exhibitions during our painting and photograph openings, to enjoy classical and jazz live concerts in our school garden, "I Giardini di Babilonia"...

"Casa Silva", the historical house where our Center is located, is in the heart of Taormina: 200 meters away from the Greek Theatre along the beautiful staircase of Scalinata Timoleone. At "Casa Silva" our students can enjoy 1000 square meters of botanical garden with lemon, orange, tangerine, grapefruit trees, palm trees and other Mediterranean plant. The garden is part of the archaeological area of Taormina.

BABILONIA offers group and private General Italian
